UNREQUITED LOVE CAUSED SUICIDE

Young Man Tries to End His Life Because Girl Did Not Care.

"Life as miserable as mine, why should I wish to live if I cannot obtain what my soul desires, what I adore with the fire of my soul and a heart that truly loves you."

"Gmo."

Because he was enamored of a Mexican girl whose name is said to be Belen Mesa, William J. Brockway, 23 years of age, wrote this note and then attempted to end his life by shooting himself at his home, 216 South Campbell street a few minutes before 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. There was no address on the note, which was written in Spanish on a single sheet of paper in lead pencil.

Complaining that he was not feeling well, he told Rosa Torres, an elderly Mexican woman, that he would sleep for awhile, went into his room and in a moment the woman heard a shot. She rushed into the room and found the man with a pistol pressed to his breast close above his heart.

She called, "What are you doing? You will kill yourself! Then, when she was present of mind, the woman grasped the pistol and tore it away from him before he could fire a second shot. However, he had already fired one bullet from the 38 caliber gun, which had entered his left breast above the heart and had lodged in his shoulder.

Immediately Dr. F. S. Cary was summoned and took the man to the county hospital, where it is believed he will recover.

The bullet was extracted from the wound.

Brockway is but 23 years of age and until last Thursday had been employed as fireman at the St. Regis hotel, but a misunderstanding with the manager caused him to leave his work, said his sister, Sadie Brockway, who is employed at the county clinic.

She ever since he came to El Paso last July and had experienced considerable difficulty in securing work.

His father, William Brockway, lives at Calle Privado y Marte, 20, Mexico City, where his mother is visiting and where he also has a brother and sister. At the present time his only relative in El Paso is the sister with whom he lived here.

Brockway was enamored of the girl, who did not return his affections and even last summer shortly after he came to El Paso, he is said to have threatened to jump into the lake at Washington Park and end it all because she was indifferent to his attentions.
